To the saints of Christ's church that meets at Fairview Park with the elders and deacons. We send you greetings and joy for our common faith and hope in the Lord.

We are well and enjoying the blessings provided us by God by his love, mercy and grace. We are blessed physically and spiritually. Thanks be to God for that.

Our Daniel study had finished a few weeks ago, and we just finished a survey of Ezekiel. We are ready to begin Esther, and then finish this section with Nehemiah, Ezra and a revisit of Malachi. Every time I read these prophets and other accounts from this time, I am humbled at the knowledge that God is always in control and very much interested in the affairs of mankind. Equally, impressive is how applicable these books are to today's world. Truly, from the Garden of Eden until the end of time, God is always in charge and wanting humans to succeed in their work here as his creation and hopefully as his faithful children. It is such a terrible thing that so many turn their back on God, even pretending that he does not exist.

Another aspect of these studies that I am stressing to the class is the various ways God, and his word, is being attacked by the ungodly. The specific wording and arguments may change from era to era, but the theme is the same. The specifics of my thoughts are beyond the scope of these reports, and your elders and the preacher there are more than capable of dealing with this danger for you good brethren.

Our mid-week class is nearing the end of the study of Hebrews. What a powerful book that continues to provide new insights and learning each time it is studied. As I have repeatedly stated the class participation and interest makes the class so beneficial to all.

I was able to talk to a woman living near the building. She is interested in visits and Bible study. I pray this will bear good fruit. She is emotionally distraught, and hopefully this will not be a barrier to her in her considering God in her life. She told me she was raised a Lutheran, so at least there is, at least, a common acceptance that God is and that Jesus is his son and our savior.

The graciousness of your continuing support to me is never taken for granted. I continue praying to God for His blessings on the work in Little Rock and the members thereof. Thank you.

In Christ,

Kevin R. Fermenick,
Evangelist
