Dear Brethren,

We hope the last month of 2015 was good for you. We've had some sickness this month, but were able to end the year with a short trip to Covington, GA.

Articles this month for the newspaper included: Are You Converted? ; Are You Converted? #2; Amusements Don't Amuse God; Three Resolutions For 2016. Sermons I preached this month included: When Was The Church Established?; Learning To Get Along; Our Hearts Burned Within Us; A Heavenly Disposition While Living On The Earth; Does The Lord Require Too Much?; Shame On You; Roads Of The New Testament; Getting On Track In 2016.

On the 1st, I attempted to conduct a Bible study which was canceled due to the person's sickness. On the 2nd, I sent out my reports, wrote the article for the newspaper and taught Wednesday's class. On the 3rd, I mailed the November bulletin out to people in the community. Janis and I also visited Bro. Jerry Davidson in the nursing home. Little did we know that a few days later he would pass away. Bro. Jerry preached the gospel at one point in his life. He was buried on the 9th. On the 4th, I visited one member of the church and sent out several Bible courses. On the 10th, Russell and I helped a fellow-saint. On the 11th, I visited a lady in the Cape Girardeau hospital. That afternoon I worked on the first bulletin for the month.

During the week of the 14th I was sick. On the 18th, I sent one course taker his certificate for completing the first course. He is interested in a Bible study. On the 22nd, I delivered a Bible to a young man who is also taking the Bible course. I made up a new list of Bible class teachers for 2016. On the 23rd, I prepared the second bulletin for the month. On the 24th, I visited a non-Christian at the nursing home. I also saw a member of the church in the hospital. On the 29th, I prepared to send out the December bulletin to some in the community, as well as write the first newspaper article for the New Year. On the 30th, I visited one member of the church and talked to another on the phone.

I have looked forward to this New Year. May God bless us all as we work for the Master!

In Christ,
